

Infosys bags Boeing excellence award

India's leading IT firm Infosys Technologies has bagged the performance excellence award from global aerospace major Boeing for 2007.

'The Boeing award reflects our insight and approach to global clients across verticals. The recognition testifies the values with which we deliver integrated services to clients in manufacturing industries,' Infosys global head for automotive and aerospace sectors Franco Gonsalves said in a statement Wednesday.

Infosys is among 50 firms to receive the gold level performance award from Boeing's 10,000 suppliers worldwide.

(© IANS / India eNews)