

Peaches Geldof hangs out with druggie Pete Doherty

Peaches, daughter of rocker Bob Geldof who was instrumental in organising the Live AIDS concert in the late 80s and the more recent Live 8 event, spent hours with troubled rocker Pete Doherty at his East London flat last week.

Thesun.co.uk reports that Peaches' friends fear her relationship with Doherty might develop.

A source said: 'Peaches and Pete and a few others were all round at this flat on Thursday. The pair were laughing and joking together for hours and getting on really well. They even went into a bedroom together for a while to be on their own. I'm not sure what they were doing in there, but whatever it was I'm sure her dad wouldn't approve.'

A friend of Doherty said: 'Peaches has always been a fan of Pete's. She was besotted with him when she was younger. And now they've got to know each other better. Pete thinks she's really sweet. He's always liked the young ones.'

Bob Geldof doesn't think much of Doherty after after he messed up his performance at the Live 8 concert. Doherty was visibly on drugs when he came on stage for his duet with Elton John.

However, Doherty blamed his performance on Peaches, then 16 years old, who he claimed made a cheeky pass at him just before he went on to perform.
