

Forbes magazine unveils 'Hottest Young Royals' list

New York, May 31 (RIA Novosti) Forbes magazine has released a list of the world's 20 'Hottest Young Royals', with British royalty taking the top places and prince William winning the number one spot.

The magazine said it used 'winning combinations of looks, money, and popularity on the Web' to compile the list. Only unmarried royals below the age of 35 were included and the 20 names listed have a combined wealth of almost $60 billion.

The eldest son of late princess Diana, William, 25, unsurprisingly heads the list thanks to 'international intrigue and unparalleled media attention' as well as a 'graceful public persona', according to Forbes magazine.

His relationship with girlfriend Kate Middleton, including the 'amicable' split announced in April last year and engagement rumours sparked a frenzy of speculation.

William's younger brother, Prince Harry, 23, who received overwhelming media coverage after serving in Afghanistan for some 10 weeks, is in second place with their cousins Zara Phillips, 27, and princess Beatrice of York, 20, ranking third and fourth, respectively.

Number five in the list is Charlotte Casiraghi of Monaco, the granddaughter of princess Grace Kelly. A style icon, Charlotte, 22, is known for her 'impeccable taste in fashion and her good looks'.

An attractive and one of Europe's most eligible royals, princess Victoria of Sweden, 31, ranked seventh in the top list.
