

Courtney Cox wants 'Friends' movie

Former 'Friends' star Courtney Cox is keen to have a movie made on the hit TV series.

All the other actors seem ready for the film except for Jennifer Aniston, who fears being typecast, New-magazine.co.uk reports.

After the success of the 'Sex and the City' movie, Cox, who played Monica in 'Friends', is eager for the show to return and thinks it will do well at the box office. She even got her latest TV show 'Dirt' cancelled.

A source close to Cox said: 'Her biggest problem is getting Jennifer on board because she has so far refused to even contemplate going back to her role as Rachel Green. She's concerned it will damage her chances of moving on with her career as a serious actress.'
