

All is well between Kareena, Harman

Debutant actor Harman Baweja, who is foraying into the film world with the much talked about futuristic film 'Love Story 2050', says he has sorted out his problems with Kareena Kapoor created by fabricated remarks.

The actor says he was shocked and embarrassed after reading reports about him making uncharitable remarks about Kareena. The remarks attributed to him about Kareena being 'robotic' in her performances had upset Harman.

'I'd never speak like that about anyone, least of all someone who is a senior (colleague) and was gracious enough to work with me when I was just starting out. That she finally opted out of 'Love Story 2050' doesn't take away from the fact that we got along really well,' Harman, who has teamed up with Priyanka Chopra in the film, told IANS.

Harman's agony ended while he was in Delhi for an event earlier this week. On an impulse he sent an SMS to Kareena, telling her how awful the words attributed to him about her made him feel.

Kareena, who is in the US shooting for Sajid Nadiadwala's 'Kambhakt Ishq', apparently replied back in a long heartfelt message, saying she has been a part of the film industry long enough to know how such things work.

She is also said to have ended her message by assuring Harman she had no ill feelings towards him and was looking forward to seeing his film that releases Friday.

Harman is relieved and overjoyed that the matter has been sorted out.

'All I'll say is I'd never talk like that about anyone. Kareena is someone I truly admire. And if people want to spoil my relations with her, let them try. It won't work.'
