

New Honda City car launched

Automobile manufacturer Honda SIEL Thursday launched its latest model of the Honda City car, describing it as an 'all-new third generation' vehicle.

Unveiling the car here, Honda SIEL director-marketing Tatsuya Natsume said the car had 'completely new design, new engine' and was environment-friendly, complying with Euro IV emission standards.

This car has been created for Indian roads after much research and development, he said, adding: 'India's is one of the most important markets for us. This new City will keep up Honda SIEL growth.'

The new Honda City is longer, wider and sturdier with a spacious cabin interior and an advanced integrated audio system.

'This is the only third generation car in its segment equipped with five speed automatic transmission with a 'Paddle Shift' option to allow the driver to enjoy a manual transmission-like driving feel,' Natsume said.

The City comes in two grades and is priced in the range of Rs.796,000 to Rs.916,000.
