

Madonna new face of Dolce and Gabbana

Pop star Madonna has been confirmed as the new face of high-end fashion brand Dolce and Gabbana.

Stefano Gabbana, one of the Italian designer duo, is thrilled that the singer has taken part in a campaign for the fashion house, reports femalefirst.co.uk.

'The campaign with Madonna is beautiful. I can't say anything about it. We are at the last shot... Madonna is simply beautiful... We're very, very tired but very happy as well... To have Madonna in our campaign is a dream come true,' Gabbana posted on micro-blogging website Twitter.

The 51-year-old star will appear in the label's spring 2010 campaign, advertising their womenswear collection. The advertisement will be Sicilian-themed and was shot in Brooklyn, New York, by fashion photographer Stephen Klein.

Earlier, Madonna has campaigned for Louis Vuitton, while her boyfriend Jesus Luz also campaigned for Dolce and Gabbana.
