

Back to school: Preity Zinta having good time at Harvard

From Bollywood to Harvard university -- actress Preity Zinta is certainly going places! The actress says she's having a great time there and yes... she's also learning.

Preity is doing a short executive course in negotiating and deal-making at the Harvard Business School in the US.

'I am having such a good time here. No one judges me here or asks me stupid questions and there are no pretensions. Finally I breathe,' Preity posted on her Twitter page.

'My class is full of wonderful people from all over the world and I am learning so much from all of them,' she added.

In her latest post, Preity mentioned that she had a major assignment on mergers and acquisitions.

The actress also said that she is leading a disciplined life as she wraps up her day and hits the bed by 11:15 p.m.
