

I don't know how to cook: Karisma Kapoor

Karisma Kapoor, a self-confessed foodie who is expecting her second child, confesses that she doesn't know how to cook.

'I don't know how to cook. I just know how to eat everything, as I love food. I can only make tea, coffee and omelettes,' Karisma told IANS.

The actress has a four-year-old daughter with businessman husband Sanjay Kapur and says she loves good food but she is one of those actresses who has always flaunted a svelte figure.

Asked if she was into dieting, the 35-year-old said: 'I am not into exhaustive drastic dieting or anything.'

The actress, who took a sabbatical from the big screen after her wedding in 2003, hopes to have a second innings in the film world in future.

'I am hoping to get back to work and reach out to audiences,' she said.

(© IANS / India eNews)